Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being taught by Delavaux (6,043,929).

As to claim 4, Delavaux teaches an array-type optical device having enhanced pumping efficiency, comprising: a substrate [figure 2, reference number 32]; a lower cladding layer formed on the substrate [figure 2, section II]; a plurality of linear gain medium structures formed on the lower cladding layer [figure 2, reference numbers 34, 38, 40, 48, and 50]; and a pumping light source disposed above the linear gain medium structures for pumping the gain medium structures by means of light directed downward there from [figure 2, source P<sub>2</sub>], wherein the linear gain medium structures are densely disposed and curved at their terminals so that other portions of the linear gain medium structures are included in the beam spot of the pumping light source [figure 2].

As to claim 5, Delavaux teaches an upper cladding layer formed on the gain medium structures, wherein the upper cladding layer is made of a material, which can transmit the light irradiated from the pumping light source [figure 2, section IV].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Delavaux as applied to claim 4 above, and further in view of Vetovec (6,810,060).

As to claim 6, Delavaux teaches all of the characteristic features of the present invention as recited above.

However, Delavaux fails to teach the pumping light source is a LED.

Vetovec teaches the pumping light source is a LED [column 6, lines 11-12].

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the apparatus disclosed by Delavaux by incorporating the feature disclosed by Vetovec.

One would have been motivated to make this modification in order to achieve improved performance in a solid-state laser [column 3, lines 13-14] as implied by Vetovec.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
